Mr. Leonard F. D'Orlando

DEDICATION

When a teacher takes an active interest in that substance, that entity called the human intellect, he becomes an educator. He does more than demand lists of facts; he stimulates the creative use of these necessary foundations of thought. He then channels the resulting flow of ideas into the mainstream of what can be termed mature existence, and nurses the original trickle until it becomes a tidal wave of enthusiasm and idealism, action and drive.

Mr. D'Orlando is one of these men, one of these educators. Subtly and overtly, he has done much for Reading High, especially for its students. He has combined an utterly sincere interest with knowledge, understanding, and extreme sensitivity to help others "see." Mr. D'Orlando has generated much spirit by exhortation and persuasion, but the prime incentive is his own example. He has stimulated individualism by his pointed and well-directed questions both in his teaching and extra-curricular duties. Most do not realize or appreciate the inspiration which once came from 206 and now from 119. Superficially he has taught many the fundamentals of English, civics, and even driving. However, to a number of these fortunate ones he has also shown, rather than taught, that without personal, gratuitous thought life is but a meaningless heap of superficiality.

Perhaps, then, the new, fast-moving crusading theme of this yearbook will, in some small way, be as a tribute to the individual who so well personifies its ideas and aims. Mr D'Orlando has built many of the foundations for and spawned many of the ideals of truth and justice we hope are contained herein. Thus, it can only be fitting that this yearbook be dedicated to him as an example of the spirit to be carried through many years; and in which he can justifiably take pride for having so deeply instilled.

through a mass of trivia and syrupy phrases.

"To be courageous, . . . requires no exceptional qualifications, no magic formula, no special combination of time, place and circumstance. It is an opportunity that sooner or later is presented to us all. Politics merely furnishes one arena which imposes special tests of courage. In whatever arena of life one may meet the challenge of courage, whatever may be the sacrifices he faces if he follows his conscience — the loss of his friends, his fortune, his contentment, even the esteem of his fellow men — each man must decide for himself the course he will follow. The stories of past courage can define that ingredient — they can teach, they can offer hope, they can provide inspiration. But they cannot supply courage itself. For this each man must look into his own soul."

EX CATHEDRA

The introduction of a new format into the production of Reading High's yearbook has not changed the reason for its publication. To justify its existence, the Pioneer must portray the school and capture the elusive spirit of the Class of 1964. You, the reader, must pass final judgment on our efforts.

To the editors, the yearbook has meant loss of sleep and study time, occasional frustration, and periods of panic before deadlines. All agree, however, that the work has been rewarding. The opportunity to be creative, the lessons of experience, and the satisfaction of a duty fulfilled are our lasting gains.

The success of any enterprise depends on the individual contributions of many. It is to these dedicated people that the credit for the Pioneer 1964 is due:

Jeanette Meuse, our co-ordinator, who was responsible for any semblance of organization our progress possessed;

Al Bothe, our radical but highly creative literary editor;

Charlie Cacciola, whose perceptive poetry makes our divider pages more than mere divisions;

Nigel Finney, our caption editor, who organized the highly successful candy drive;

Chip Knowlton, who was tireless in his pursuit of the picture which appears on pages twenty and twenty one;

Pat Darby and Leslie Long, our art editors, who managed to make pictures fit very unconventional layouts;

Kathy Barrett, the keeper of our sales records and, often, of large sums of money;

Janet Broeg, our versatile literary editor;

Sue Dolben, Janice Kaminsky, and Russ Miller, editors who met with varying degrees of success in their pursuit of ads;

Donna Caywood, Deby Glidden, and Barbie Chase, our unappreciated profile editors who attempted to sum up the career of each senior in one and one-half inches of copy space;

Mr. Robert Moore, our representative from O'Toole & Sons, who openly encouraged our new format, silently bore with our problems at deadline time, and gave us indispensable aid with the dedication;

Mr. D'Orlando, the unsuspecting recipient of the dedication, who inspired us and then had to channel our inspiration.

These people worked with me, suffered the effects of my moments of anger and despair, and shared in my moments of satisfaction. To them, my thanks.

Mr. Young, as the new director of the Projection Crew, has kept operations running smoothly despite an increase in film rentals, class periods, and crew membership.

The crew sees that all films are checked in, made available to teachers, and shown on request. The crew is also responsible for all film strips, phonographs, tape recorders, and equipment repairs.

This year's crew consisted of thirty hard-working seniors, juniors, sophomores, led by Charles Cacciola, as president, Robert Surette as vice-president, and David Hollowell as secretary. Although their services are often taken for granted, these hard workers make possible Reading High's extensive audio-visual department.

SENIOR PLAY TECHNICAL CREW

STAGE CREW

The Stage Crew is a branch of the Projection Crew consisting of seven members. The duties of the Stage Crew are to operate stage equipment during all school activities and on occasion, to render services to outside organizations which use the high auditorium for their own productions.

Members of the Stage Crew are appointed according to interest and ability by the officers of the Projection Crew and the other members of the Stage Crew. These candidates are then approved by Mr. Spence who is in charge of the Stage Crew.

In May, when the Projection Crew elects new officers, one or two juniors and two or three sophomores will be appointed to the Stage Crew to replace the seniors. During the last month these new members will be trained by the seniors and the other juniors so that the Stage Crew will be able to begin next year well prepared.

In serving their school in this way, they hope to gain valuable working experience.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of Reading Memorial High School is a body composed of elected home-room representatives and class officers. It is the purpose of this organization to act as an all-school representative coordinating body which promotes the best interests of the students and the school. The Council has been successful in organizing the annual Student Council Dance, the Red Key, the Cafeteria Lunch Patrol, and various other committees essential to its operation. This year's schedule left little time for its meetings.

TITAN'S 2¢ WORTH

The "Titan's 2¢ Worth," shaped from the "Titan" by the metamorphic pressures of high school elections, has gained wide recognition and popularity in a very short time. Carrying editorials on everything from racial discrimination to minor school problems, the "2¢ Worth" has been formed into a strong tool to express varied thoughts and to influence and stimulate thinking. All of the staff is pleased with the "2¢ Worth" this year and hopes it will continue to be a success in the future.

HI-LITES

This year, for the first time, the school subsidized the Rocket Hi-Lites, ending the necessity of advertisements and candy selling. With all this extra space available, the editors worked hard with staffs to make the whole paper informative and provocative. Yet, due to the lack of homeroom or activity periods, the staffs met sporadically and thus it was a struggle to produce five good issues. It was only through the efforts of editor-in-chief, Barbara Weaver, and editors and reporters who remained interested that the paper was successful.

TYPISTS

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Assistants is one of the many behind the scenes groups which exemplify service to the school. The members of this group each spend two periods a week working in the library helping Mrs. MacDonald who is their supervisor. They perform many duties, ranging from returning books to shelves to filing periodicals and pamphlets. For this voluntary service, their only compensation is experience and contact with books.

FIRST ROW: June Carter, Ruth Halbert, Judith Flanagan, Carol Gissler, Jean Richards. SECOND ROW: Susan Canray, Sharan Spausta, Margaret Staples, Suzanne Gray, Leslie Lang, Virginia Burke.

OFFICE WORKERS

The Office Workers have done an excellent job this year, providing valuable services to teachers as well as the secretaries. Sorting mail, typing bulletins, mimeographing papers, and paging students are just a few of their many duties. They should all be appreciated for the work they do that is so necessary to the efficiency of the school.

PIONEER

The unique motif of this year's Pioneer is not a chance happening. Being bored with the trite, the staff used an unusual but dynamic method to underline its theme. Spirit and service were emphasized by the thoughts and observations obtained in and around the school.

Editor-in-chief David Mathieson and co-ordinator Jeanette Meuse supervised the work of many people who contributed directly or indirectly to the final product. The brunt of the labor fell to the editors, but others, namely those on the business staff and those participating in the candy drive, made the yearbook ultimately possible.

With Mr. D'Orlando's permission and aid, many unjustifiable boundaries of tradition were crossed. With an eye to literary and artistic merit, the challenge to do more than retrace four years in Reading High was met. The degree of success is up to the reader to decide.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

What is the most exciting, valuable, and wonderful experience in my teens?

My stay in the United States as an A.F.S. student for a year is, of course. I am so surprised that time has passed very fast since I came last summer. But even if it is just one year, I am very happy that I could have a chance to come over here and experience lots of things. I have learned much from you and your country during this "flying year."

I do not know how much I will miss Reading when I have to go back, but I will never forget this enjoyable stay with you in Reading.

SETSUKO KUMON

It was with a sincere regret that I left the Philippine Islands last August after my stay as a foreign exchange student. If I had it to do all over again, I would hope for a two year, rather than a two month, stay. It was an invaluable experience which will remain with me for the rest of my life. I lived the Filipino way of life and fully appreciated and enjoyed it. Now, not one day passes that I do not reflect on my wonderful visit in the Philippines.

From personal experience, I urge all students to develop an interest in this most worthwhile program. With added support and sustained interest, the American Field Service Foreign Exchange Program will remain the very successful organization it is now and the ultimate goal, "Walk together and talk together, all ye peoples of the world," will be attained. Throughout my stay, the warm and generous Filipino people were perfect hosts. My only hope now is to return and visit my new-made but long-lasting friends.

PRINTER'S DEVILS

The "Printer's Devils" is an advanced class in modern techniques of commercial production. With Mr. Lee as their instructor, the boys contribute their extra time performing a valuable service to the school. Some of their projects are student permits, faculty stationary, tickets for school functions, honor cards, scholastic and athletic award certificates, report cards for the entire school system, and commencement invitations.

Their special event this year, an exchange concert with the Dartmouth High School Glee Club, was followed by the fifth annual Spring Concert sponsored by the Rotary Club.

CHORUSES

MIXED CHORUS, FIRST ROW: Carol Sellars, Donna Johnston, Lucille Ward, Chris Angel, Sandra McNaney, Jane Ricker, Kimberly Chase, Deborah Williams, Marjorie Kendrick, Betsy Cannington, Deborah Beaudoin, Dale Garbarino, Natalie Brown, Nancy Richardson, Carol Livingston, Donna Caywood. During two class periods a week, the members of the two mixed choruses and the girls' chorus received the training which will enable them to become valuable members of the Glee Club.

THIRD ROW: Judith Chapin, Philip Day, Nigel Finney, Warren Klawltan, Russell Miller, Michael Bacon, Albert Bathe, Emily Paynter.

Eligibility for membership in the National Honor Society requires that a student have the four qualities of "Character, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service" as stated in the society's motto. Only a very small minority of the present senior class has worked toward attaining these goals. This is evidenced by the fact that only twenty-four members of the Class of 1964 met these requirements and thus were inducted under the direction of Mr. Arthur Spencer into this organization in March, 1963.

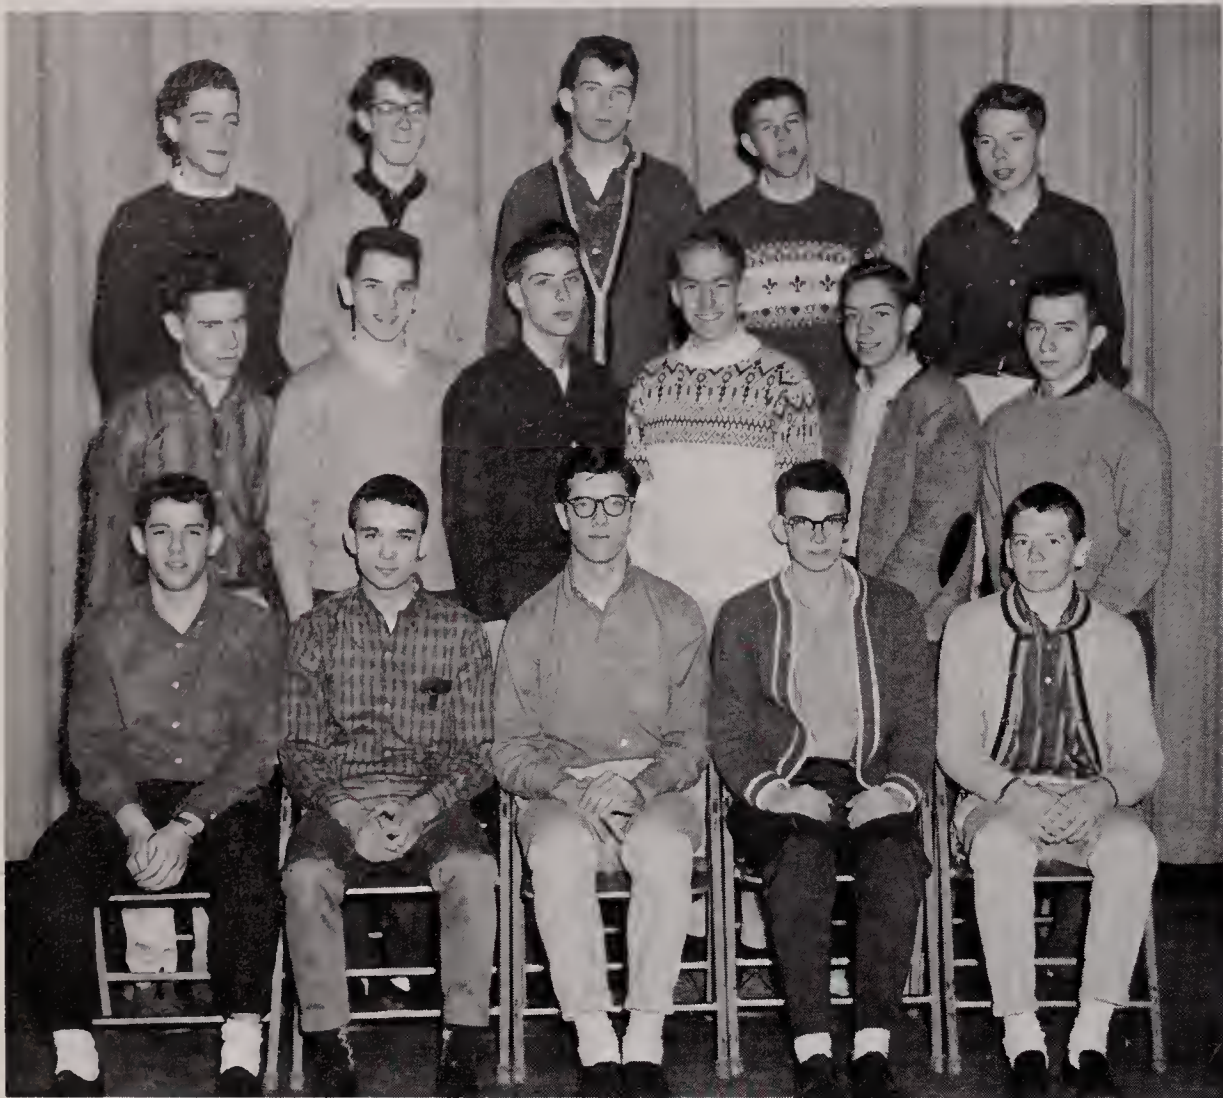

BASKETBALL

FIRST ROW: Coach Walter Hawkes, Thomas Kelly, Dennis Curran, Luis Serrecchia, Paul Ramano, Robert Beeman, Philip Chesley, Keith Arsenault, Coach Peter Finn. BATON SQUAD

Ability to twirl and march is the criterion for membership in the Baton Squad. The girls who successfully met the qualifications composed the forty regular plus the ten alternate members of the squad. Led by Charlene Rhodes and Deborah Litchfield, and aided by Mrs. Notman, the group encouraged spirit at rallies and games. With the termination of the football season the squad still remained active. They participated in many parades and sponsored their annual dance and pot luck supper.

CHEERLEADERS

Any junior or senior girl with the unusual combination of coordination, loud vocal chords, and ability to become excited over a football, basketball, or hockey game, could qualify for the Cheerleaders squad. Donna Hardy, the leader, and the other eleven girls who generally represent the best looking in either class spent many hours learning the numerous cheers. This supernumerary group did much for the football, basketball, and hockey teams by starting cheers which boost the players morale and assure them their effort is appreciated.

BAND

Reading High's forty-seven member band began its year by boosting spirit at football games and rallies. Its role as a service organization began with preparation for the concert season, which began with a program for the student body. Other presentations included a program at Coolidge Junior High, an exchange concert with Dartmouth High School, arranged with the help of president Alan Corindia, and the annual Spring Rotary Concert. The band also represented Reading High at the Patriot's Day Parade in Lexington.

ADMINISTRATION

Spirit is the outward manifestation of one's deepest beliefs and convictions. It is the enthusiasm and fervor with which one commits himself completely to an idea, a cause, a person, a group, or an institution. It involves the total identification of one's intellect and emotion with a proposition that must be upheld and defended. True spirit requires unshrinking courage and unfaltering loyalty and can never co-exist with timidity, uncertainty, or indifference.

It is my hope that each member of the Class of 1964 has acquired sufficient self-knowledge so that he will never hesitate to take a stand and show true spirit whenever the occasion demands.

ARA A. KARAKASHIAN

Service, as defined by Webster's Dictionary, is the "act or result of serving; duties performed or needs supplied," but service is more than that. It is a part of the individual; and the individual is a part of it. It also must be realized, as well as rendered, for "No man is an island unto himself." Service is important to the individual, and needed by the group.

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

Miss Helen Hart

Mr. Walter Paskowsky

The main function of the guidance department is to prepare the students of Reading Memorial High School for the role they will assume in later life. This staff caters to all students, those who will go on to some form of higher education as well as those who will seek work after graduation. They are always willing to assist in any way possible with educational, occupational, and personal problems.

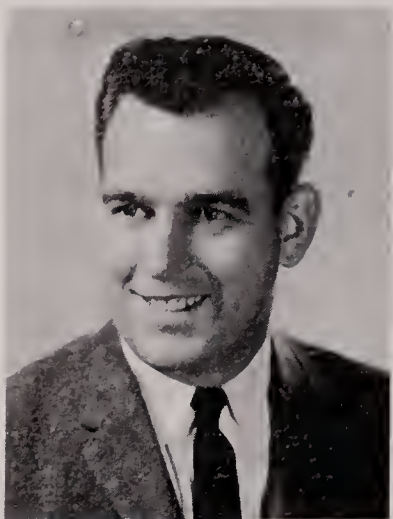

This year, with Mr. Walter Paskowsky as director, and Mr. John Pacino, Mr. Gale Webber, and Miss Helen Hart serving as senior, junior, and sophomore counselors respectively, the department administered and evaluated numerous academic and vocational tests. Another vital function of this department is the arrangement of vocational conferences and preparation of transcripts for seniors.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

As R.M.H.S.' first three year class reaches the peak of its high school education, we juniors look back upon an interesting and active year.

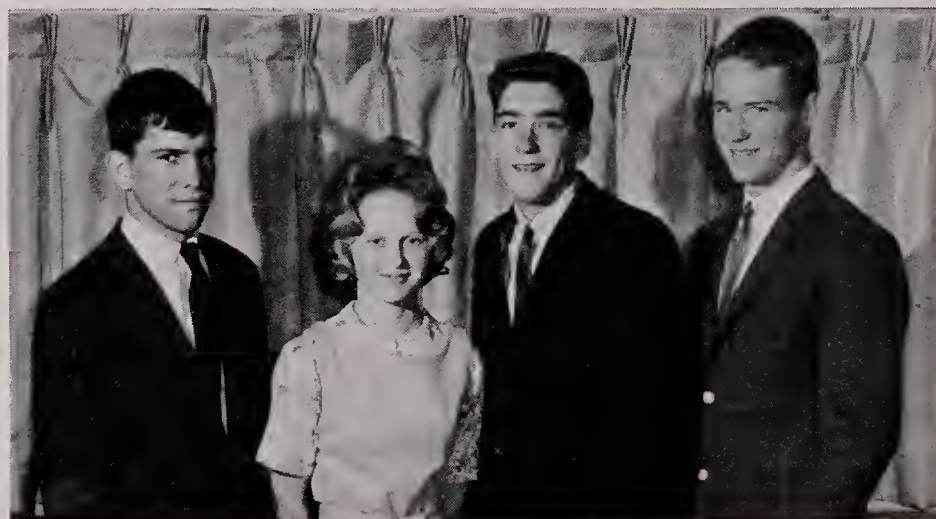

We terminated our sophomore year with the election of John Gall as president, Lucille Ward as vice-president, Wendy Whittemore as secretary, and Irwin Patterson as treasurer of our class. During the last two years we have been well represented not only athletically on the football, hockey, baseball, and basketball teams but scholastically as well, on both the honor and high honor rolls. Juniors also appeared on the baton squad, acted as cheerleaders and played in the band.

The Junior Prom, which was held in March, was a great success. As a fitting close to our junior year we hosted the seniors at the Junior-Senior Reception in May.

It is with great expectation that we look forward to the forthcoming senior year and prepare for the responsibility and enjoyment that will come with it.

Paul Sweeny, President; Sharon Small, Secretary; Steven Bacon, Treasurer; Michael Barrett, Vice-President.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

As the Class of 1966 entered Reading Memorial High School at the start of the year, we were quite bewildered and not sure just what the future held in store for us. However, under the capable leadership of our class officers, President Paul Sweeney, Vice-President Michael Barrett, Secretary Sharon Small, and Treasurer Steven Bacon, we soon became accustomed to the rigors of high school life, and have enjoyed a thoroughly successful first year here.

Our Sophomore Dance was held on November 8, and at this dance the students of Parker and Coolidge

Junior High met for their first grade dance as a united grade. Class dues were collected providing a start for our treasury. In addition, our class undertook the project of selling tickets for the school production of Bye Bye Birdie and through our efforts the show was well attended.

We wish to extend a particular vote of thanks to our adviser, Miss Hart, for her assistance has been invaluable. We eagerly anticipate a thoroughly successful year again next year and look forward to contributing much to all school functions.

CLASS HISTORY

In September of 1960 the last freshman class ever to attend R.M.H.S. began its eventful four year stay. We were met by the newly appointed principal, Mr. Karakashian and assistant principal, Mr. Spence. Our first official function as a class was the election of officers to represent us. We elected Peter Kiely president, Steven Lorentzen vice-president, Laurel Yeo secretary, and Dorothy Richards treasurer for a four year term. Scarcely one month after entering the school, we staged our first school dance, The Freshman Fanta-Sea. Throughout the year we conducted an active sports schedule but were one year too late to be an important part of Reading's most successful athletic teams.

Although we were still the high school's youngest class, as sophomores we could participate on all varsity teams. Elections were held in the customary manner. Tradition was broken, however, with the election of Joseph Dinan as class secretary, with the remainder of the officers re-elected. In October we staged our Sophomore Hop with the theme of "Shine on Harvest Moon".

As juniors, no longer the youngest, not yet the oldest, we elected a new slate of officers with Louis Carlow as president, Paul Rivers as vice-president, Betty Gilligan as secretary, and Dorothy Richards as treasurer. In this academically centered year we were subjected to an exhausting series of exams, including both the College Boards and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. We emerged from these with two National Merit Semi-Finalists, and a number of winners of Letters of Commendation. In addition, twenty-six members of the class of '64 were inducted into the National Honor Society. In March we held our Junior Prom, "Younger Than Springtime," and in May we presented the Junior-Senior Reception. In June we were able to send our Exchange Student, Joseph Dolan, to his Philippine home, and on this note we ended our junior year.

As seniors we accepted added responsibility. We were now the leaders of our school, captains of our teams, and heads of school activities. With this in mind, vigorous campaigning resulted in the election of Albert Bothe as president, Michael Devaney as vice-president, Betty Gilligan as secretary, and Dorothy Richards as treasurer. To our class came the honour and joy of welcoming into our number Setsuko Kumon, the exchange student from Japan. Our senior play, "Mistakes at the Blakes'!" highlighted our autumn season. The struggle concerning college admissions was the culmination of four hard, but well remembered years. In May we were guests at the Junior-Senior Reception, followed by the Senior Prom, Baccalaureate Service, Class Day, Senior Banquet, and the climax of our stay, Graduation.
